

Khalilah Burton

Khalilah Burton, Ed.D., joined Columbia Southern University in April 2013 as the director of curriculum planning and outcomes assessment. Prior to joining CSU, Dr. Burton served as a biology instructor for J.F. Drake State Technical College, Lawson State Community College, Alabama A&M University, and Faulkner University. Dr. Burton played a vital role in institutional accreditation efforts as the outcomes assessment and institutional effectiveness and planning leader. Additionally, she has prior experience working with higher education institutions on accreditation projects for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC), Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE), and the Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). Dr. Burton earned her Bachelor of Science in biology and Master of Science in biology with a concentration in microbiology from Alabama A&M University. She holds a Doctor of Education in community college leadership from Morgan State University.