

Michael Curd

Michael Curd has served as the Vice President at Harrison Middleton University since 2013. He possesses more than fifteen years of experience across a broad spectrum of institutional mission in both distance education and residential classroom settings.

Mr. Curd earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Arizona, and his Master of Education degree in higher and adult education from Arizona State University. He also holds an Executive Juris Doctor from the Concord Law School of Kaplan University and completed the Institute for Management and Leadership in Education program from the Harvard Graduate School of Education. His term ends March 31, 2021.